Dear Edyth,
Doors are locked,
Keys in the cellar,
No one home but
Edyth and her "feller."
Yours & classmate
Ella Artner.

Just the best thing you can do to keep the police from finding out the names of the girls who were in the room
on the night of the murder.

Art Explanation

WITH the desire to make the beauty of the Lantern significant, this art explanation has been written. The lanterns on the picture backgrounds, as they shimmeringly cast forth their ray-like messages, are only suggestive of their true brilliancy. It is the written description that gives the full intensity. ¶ The lamps that have given light down through the ages have been made to live on these pages as symbols of learning, always diffusing mental illumination. Each lantern appearing is characteristic of the time. ¶ The subject of the book-plate, the crude light that cast shadows in the cave of primitive man, and the winged bull of Sumeria, precede in skeleton form the introduction into real enlightenment, the Egyptian era. Musingly the Egyptian sits, as the smoke of the lamp begins to screen the light of the old civilization, in preparation for the new, the Greek and Roman. ¶ Amidst Roman pomp, the Greek imparts his culture. The lantern now emits beams brightening all darkness. ¶ This very brightness fades to a mere flicker in the Middle Ages that is kept burning by the Monks. Timidly at first the flames escape from the transparent panes, but fired again and again by the zeal of these ambitious and far-seeing monks, they are revived to eternal life, in accordance with the general rebirth of all things. ¶ And so gleams of light escape even through the stern Colonial Days, until now the scintillating lantern of learning vies with the sun for supremacy.

4A POEM

When the Path of Life grows narrow,
And the distant light seems dim,
And ambition clouds with sorrow—
Then's the time to fight and win.
When the thorns of life's sharp failures
Pierce the hopes so fair in youth,
Push on. Be not in soul deceived
Stand up. Face facts, and know the truth.
When the day is dark with trials,
And success is checked by doubt
Lose not your courage in despairing.
Press on. High aim will bring you out.
When all the joys life seems to hold
Are merely memories and dreams,
Fight on to brilliancy that shines
With success's radiant beams.
When the path is hard to climb,
Remember this—the bliss of rest
Is rich reward for drearest task.
Courage and faith through years are best.
—Madeline M. Seelbach.

4A PROPHECY

"President-elect Feldman has issued a call for all his classmates of '29 to assemble at Washington."

This headline caused much uproar in the offices of the "Chicago Daily Tribune," where George Hill was editor-in-chief, Grace Connor, assistant editor; Allan Marver, sport editor, Jack Chizewer, news editor, Dorothy Gorman, beauty editor, Ruth Belaffsky, society editor, and Bertha Kaplan, literary editor. Among the reporters were Julius Abrahms, Dexter Balterman, Pauline Cuttler, Gertrude Fine, and Pearl Horvitz. We were assigned to cover the story, and we were to have the aid of William Kalb, head of the photographic department, and his assistants, Milton Block and Karl Skog.

On March second a party of fifty left Chicago in the special plane provided by the president, called the "Roosevelt." Herman Gordon the world's best dressed aviator, who was in command of the plane, had just received news that he had been appointed Secretary of Aviation. Among those seen in the crowd congratulating him were: Daniel Mandleblat, financier; Hildene Abrahms, novelist; Charlotte Adland, Jean Bauer, and Hortense Klein, now famous in the musical world; Carl Albrecht, owner of the plane; Marie Kalk, famous architect, Sylvia Arkin, and Clara Siegel, originators of the "School for Personality;" and Abe Berkson, football coach at the University of Chicago.

Upon entering the plane, we recognized Dorothy Aeppli, collector of income taxes; William Anderson, banker; Suzanne Bethman, author of the season's best seller; Rena Bernard, alderman of the fortieth ward; Myrtle Block, owner of Block's Hotels for Women; Helen Briskin, who was running for re-election for Mayor of Chicago; Lou Brownstein and Phil Karasick, owners of Karstein Railroad Co.; Leon Cohen, Chief of Detectives in Chicago; Grace Gibboney, organist; Edith Fastoff, pianist, Theodore Decker and Isadore Becker, certified public accountants.

In six hours we arrived at the Capitol. Upon leaving the plane we met Babette Siedband, who had married a multimillionaire from New York; Sonia Wolfberg, who is happily married to a red head; Mildred Golosinec, and, of course, Hazel Weir, who are opera and stage stars, respectively; Jack Jenkin, a world known artist; Arthur Hunyady, famous historian; Jerry Lukowitz, star of the Chicago Cubs and coach of the Roosevelt baseball team; Julius Litvin, dramatic editor of the New York World; Fanny Levinson, teacher of English at Northwestern; Leonard Davidson, lawyer.

We were rushed to our hotel owned by Nora Knutzen and Sylvia Joffe. They told us that Ellis Kemp, Bernard Druas, Curtis Larson, Leon Marks, and David Manuel were their only competitors for having the best managed hotel in the world.

Shortly we went down to dinner where we met Florence Miller, editor of the Washington Lovelorn Column; Myron Omens, the Speaker of the House; Evelyn Lauterback, business adviser; Kenneth Kroger, star player on the Washington baseball team; Dorothy Kiefer and Doris Peterson, happily married house wives; and Irving Kahn, well known to the musical world as an originator of blue songs. Myron told us that Morris Myer, Irving Melcher, Melvin Peterson, Myrtle Olson, Sam Ross, Esther Weinstein, and Pauline Webb were doing much work in the House of Representatives and were gaining renown in that way.

Later in the evening we were taken to the opera by Sol Steelman, millionaire clubman, and Norman Trost, book publisher. Leo Berg was the star of the cast. He was supported by Irene Mullis, Dorothy Nixon, Judith Rose, and Idelle Rosenblum.

In the lobby we met Evelyn Pass, movie star; Bill Kass, hero of her latest film; Oscar Honig, film magnate; Lillian Hedler, script writer.

The next evening, March third, a dinner was to be held at which the newly elected president was to disclose some of the appointments he would make when he became the president. It was held in the Jensen club room, the largest club in the United States, and owned by no other than Lorraine Jensen. Among those present were the president elect; the vice-president elect, Oscar Brothman; his secretary, Selma Himelstein; William Kelly, Master of Ceremonies; Jeanette Latter and Ruth Meyer, Decorators and Designers, who had charge of the decorating for the inaugural ceremonies; Bob Mathies, owner of the largest stables for blue blooded horses in the world.

At the beginning of the dinner Mr. Feldman stood up and disclosed these appointments: Cabinet Members: Secretary of State, Shirley Zietlein; Secretary of Treasury, Gordy Garbell; Secretary of Labor, Philip Cohen; Secretary of Agriculture, Marvin Neland; Secretary of Interior, Rose Gordasky; Secretary of War, Norbert Dickman; Secretary of Commerce, Ethel Johnson; Postmaster-General, James Hugelot; Attorney General, Bernard Cooper; and Maurice Zagorsky, Secretary of the Navy. Ambassadors: David Handell, ambassador to England; Philip Perlman, ambassador to France; Helen Phillips, ambassador to Spain; and Eleanor Moskowitz, ambassador to China. Judiciary officials: Sey-hour Holtzman, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court; Associate Justices, Louis Skolnick, Joe Fine, and Orris Freeman. Last, but not least, his private secretary was Bernard Gordon, who was to be assisted by Sarah Brantuck, Dorothy Lebeson, and Lorraine Ortlepp.

The door opened and in streamed a few late guests. They were Sol Porte, Governor of New York; Emanuel Cowen, Carl Bowman, Jack Abrahms, Carl Anderson, Edith Lavetter, all members of the Senate; Irving Fisher, Champion Auto Racer; Ruth Cohen and Lillian Stern, who are modelling for Francis Kessler and Ruth Karasick's style show; Louis Kaplan, lawyer; Vera Jacobson, star of a new musical comedy; her rival, Helen Kapulsky; Gladys Cohen, President of the American Red Cross.

Telegrams, cablegrams, and letters were received from the absentees. These the president very oblingingly read. Minnette Hamburg, Rose Warshell, Marie Walner, Florence Wallace, and Beatrice Chazin were busy designing dresses in Paris. Leslie Bergman was busy training his All Star Basketball Team for the Olympic. It consisted of Arthur Bairstow, Cramer Shaps, Abe Markowitz, Sam Parker, and William Sector. Also entered in the Olympics were Clara Heiser and Margaret Klann. Sam Rosen was now engaged in swimming the English Channel, and didn't want to stop. Paul Lavenfeld and Pauline Greenberg, known on the Parisian stage as Paul and Pauline, could not break their dancing contract. Max Greenberg was a professor of medicine in Germany. Jack Sax, as a reporter, was covering the Olympic games. Madeline Seelbach, famous writer, was travelling in Asia. Milton Shapinsky is a famous criminologist, and is busy on a case for Scotland Yard. Ruth Shapiro, known as the best dressed woman in Europe, is on the Riviera now. Frank Thornton is hunting in Africa. Lewis Wilner is a physican at the court of Englanl. Ruth Robin is married and travelling with her husband in Europe. We almost forgot Lena Goldman, who is traveling around the world and is, at the present time, somewhere in Egypt.

Among the entertainers at the dinner were Pearl Amsel, a blues singer, and her chorus of beauty blondes, including Helen Flick, Violet Almberg, Ethel Dohlinky, Mildred Simo, Eleanor Simons, Audrey Meir, Beatrice Tiger, Evelyn Nystrom, Mildred Noreen, and Louise Petrie; Harry Steinborn and William Robert's Orchestra, whose solo artist was Daniel Litvin; Mulvine Brown, who is the prima donna of New York Metropolitan Opera House; Eleanor Jones, premiere danseuse of the Metropolitan; Seymour Katz, a member of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra; Carolyn Lauter, a second Ethel Barrymore; Sydelle Rovnick, songster, whose flashing eyes and dark hair have made her the toast of Europe; Hannah Schiler, her accompanist; Muriel Schrieber, who is still thrilling audiences with her voice; Bernice La Belle, dancer.

After the dinner we all went to the "Lido," a popular theatre run by Helen Silbinger and Ruth Schnackrel. There were many hostesses, among whom were Mildred Mazur, Violet Noller, Florence Rechtman, Eunice Richardson, and Esther Werth. Also seen were George Goodman, Ralston Grund, Matthew Solender, Robert Stuart, Ruth Warshell and Blanche Peters of the firm of James Kelly, Expert Accountants; Selma Shapiro, a prominent society woman; Rose Silverman, artist.

The next day, March fourth, promised to be the biggest we ever had witnessed. We had to do a little shopping, so we went to the largest department store in the city owned by Carl Anderson and Robert Welch. They told us that the architects of this enormous twenty-five story building were Arthur Marks and Othell Mansell, and also that they have many former Roosevelt students employed in the store.

We decided to try to find them. We first went up to the dress department. The manager was Annabel Steinborn. The dresses we picked out were designed and made by the firm of Steichman and Synovar, and were modelled by Alice Varnum and Margaret Bell. From thence we went to the shoe department, run jointly by Mildred Lehtman and Muriel LeBoy. We made our purchases and inquired of the floorwalker, who was no other than Max Weitzner, where we could find the beauty shop. He directed us. This shop was a very delightful surprise to us. It was independent of the general store and had a large sign saying:

TOWNSEND AND HERZFELD, BEAUTY SPECIALISTS

We entered and found the place done in Modernistic art. Among their beauty workers were Lucille Kamback, Dorothy Kupinski, Charlotte Brown, and Minnie Chinitz. When they finished "dolling us up," we found that we would have to hurry if we didn't want to be late for the inauguration.

We rushed out, signalled a taxi cab, and found that it bore the name of Edward Levine. We asked the driver, who happened to be Sam Breger, about Eddie, and he said that the cab business was doing marvelously well.

We arrived just as the parade was starting. It was led by Henry Deutsch, drum master, and was in command of Howard Nielson and Earle Tonsgard. In ranks we noticed Harold Spiegel, Irving Kallick, and Ralph Dahlgren. Elmer Hogan was in charge of the entire United States Army, but he was not present at the ceremonies.

While waiting for the services to start we looked around to see if there was anybody in the crowd who we had not met before. There was Rose Kliger, Senior Librarian of the Chicago U.; Bohumil Klecker, teacher of science at Roosevelt; Sylvia Kahn, teacher of commercial studies at Roosevelt; Rose Kaufman, who studied art in Europe and then brought back many wonderful ideas; Junice William, who with Cecille Chase, was engaged in the work of teaching small children; Richard Burns, President of the American Chemistry Society; Blanche Brumbaugh, champion typist of the U. S.; Al Ceplair, writer of the famous text book on history, "The United States, its Past and Present"; Sam Citron, famous revenue agent, who had an eye like an eagle. While we were waiting a car whizzed by. By a hurried glimpse we saw Anna Durkovic and Katherine Dvorascek, both prominent in the business world, and Myra Douglass, Dean of the girls at her old Alma Mater.

After the President was sworn in we went to the White House to shake hands with him. There we met some more old friends. They were Jean Dandurand and Arthur Dobberteen, both famous Tennis Stars; Gerald Schuknecht and Robert Geyer, both majors in the U. S. Corps; Margaret Goldblatt, famous artist; Marjorie Everson, an economic teacher; Bessie Zednick, director of a business establishment for girls; Milton Winogrand, director of the mints of the United States; Evelyn Wurum, his private secretary.

After shaking hands with the president, we went out into the street, and were much surprised by having a small boy come up to us with this inquiry, "Paper, lady? All about the new theories for revolutionizing the world." We bought one and read the article. The author of these theories was Beinus Ben Amy. His followers were: Louis Gram, Charles Greenberg, Emil Zirwas, Arthur Sandgreen, and Charles Schiowitz.

We decided that we would take the train back. We went to the station, which we found had been constructed by Erwin Peterson, and Jacob Mauer and company. The trains were being lustily called by William Gerner, so we knew exactly what train to take. The engineer was Seymour Friedman. He informed us that this railroad company was the only one of its kind. When we asked him why it was different, he informed us that it was owned by nine women, who shared the stock in that company. They were Ethel Feinberg, Ida Glatt, Freida Hecht, Gertrude Werner, Alice Rusak, Helen Ryzow, Elsie McWhirter, Rose Reuben, and Ruth Marvil.

On the way home we noticed a few of our friends whom we had not met. They were Paul Pitts, criminologist, Esther Metz, dancer, and Harry Ruttesberg, Director of Physical Education in the city of New York.

We arrived safely on March fifth at the office of the Tribune, where our report was received with interest.

HISTORY OF THE 4A CLASS

One June night in 1939, as I was strolling down the street, I passed a theater which appeared strangely familiar to me. What first caught my attention were two wise owls perched on the top of either entrance of this large, red-brick building. It seemed peculiar that the trees planted in front of this theater varied in size, each one being a little shorter than the last.

Laughing and chattering groups of people were pushing into the main entrance. Suddenly I heard someone call my name, and turning around, beheld a former schoolmate, who asked me if I were also going to see the movie.

"What movie?", I inquired.

But before he could answer, we were swept on by the rest. In a few minutes I found myself seated in a large auditorium, surrounded by the Roosevelt High School graduates of June, 1929.

Flashes were thrown upon the screen. Here was the small red building of Mayfair, where many of our class spent their first year. Then we saw ourselves as sophomores at Hibbard, when many Junior High School and transferred students joined us.

As the panorama on the screen continued, we again experienced the surge of school spirit which had thrilled us when we heard that our boys had won a shield for the lightweight basket-ball championship. We lived over again many happy times, until that fateful day when we entered the new Roosevelt High School.

Then we saw many of our classmates becoming prominent in various activities. Paul Karasick, Abe Markovitz, Paul Levenfeld, and Louis Bronstein represented our class in a rousing game of basket-ball.

We cheered lustily as the judge announced over the vitaphone that Roosevelt took first place in the orchestra. Many of us had been members.

The scene changed. We wondered as to the identity of the boy who was speaking so earnestly about our great statesman, Abraham Lincoln. It was none other than Bernard Cooper who placed first in the North Section Oratorical Contest and won for us an oil painting.

After recalling to our minds many happy incidents of long ago, the last picture revealed to us the entire class seated on the stage at graduation. Sol Porte, our distinguished president, was announcing the speakers, one by one, at our last assembly.

Jeanne Bauer.

Charlotte Adland.

4B CLASS POEM

We have built ourselves a house of dreams
And carefully laid each stone in place,
Hewn by many patient hands.
We have placed a cornerstone of honor.

Each brick is an hour of effort
Held firm by hope and faith.
Sometimes our hands were tired,
But we have struggled onward.

We have fashioned windows of learning,
Large windows for the soul;
That they might not seem too harsh and cold,
We have made curtains of friendship,
Tied with silken cords of love.

In our house there are two towers,
"Service," and "Courage to carry on."
Towers for sunlight for dreary ways,
Towers for union in understanding.

We have finished our work;
We have done all that we could.
We stand back and survey
Our efforts, smiling.
Now we go to make our dream house reality.

—EDNA DENISON.

"This learned I from the shadow of a tree, which to and fro did sway upon the wall:

"Our shadow selves, our influence, may fall where we can never be."

—Etta G. Clark.

"The first and best victory is to conquer self; to be conquered by self, is of all things, the most shameful."—Plato.

—Lynne S. Harford.

"Better far pursue a frivolous trade by serious means, than a sublime art frivolously."—Elizabeth Browning.

—Inez L. Hollenberger.

"The deed is to the doer and returns most to him."

—Olive Marshall.

"Our doubts are traitors
And make us lose the good we oft might win,
By failing to attempt."—Shakespeare.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF FEBRUARY, '30

THIRTY-FOUR years ago in the annals of Roosevelt:

Upon entering the portals of the old Hibbard High School, the new freshies experienced a novel sensation, that of the sudden drop from sophisticated seniors at grammar school to little insignificant freshies—the sad objects of ridicule and laughter. Thus at the bottom of the ladder began the climb of the frosh. Their many trials and tribulations had just commenced. They were yet to become acquainted with the tower of Hibbard, gain knowledge of the fact that their new principal, Mr. Gaffney, objected to having his students cut classes more than once a week, and in general, learn many new ideas.

THIRTY-THREE years ago in the annals of Roosevelt:

The timid freshies rose to the heights of ambitious sophomores. And Lo! A new institution has sprung up—the THEODORE ROOSEVELT HIGH SCHOOL. The sophs were proud of the distinction of being among the first classes to enter that beautiful new building. In order to top this grand and glorious feeling, the Lightweight Basketball Team took the laurels in the final game with Tilden.

Then came the first operetta presented by the Roosevelt Choral Club, "Erminie." As the sophomores took up their 2A. work, the Dramatic Club, under the supervision of Mrs. May E. Smith, began work on "Seven Chances."

THIRTY-TWO years ago in the annals of Roosevelt:

With the aid of the Juniors, Miss Alma Fick, Miss Etta G. Clark, and Mrs. Lynne Harford founded the two branches of the English Club. Thus the "Writers" and the "Readers" sections came into existence.

This year also saw the departure of our noted music instructor, Mr. Staater, who also went to higher fields, and Miss Ross, art teacher, who left on a sabbatical leave to see the world. She was followed by Mrs. Smith.

THIRTY-ONE years ago in the annals of Roosevelt:

At last the much coveted position of Seniors was reached. The popularity of the class increased, with Lois Sundvahl becoming chief executive of the Student Council, and Alex Garber and Jeanette Crocker attaining the honor of being the editors of the two publications—Weekly and Annual. Sylvia Katz commenced the glory of the final year by winning a place in the Hall of Fame for herself and Roosevelt by placing second in the Union League Club's Flag Code contest.

Then came all the interesting events of a Senior's life—meetings, election of officers, picking of committees, and then—the Prom and graduation.

Then, with diploma in hand, the seniors crossed the threshold of Roosevelt, and so made their entrance into the world. Life was before them. Their hearts, however, would always be with the memories of the days they had spent under the wise old owl of Roosevelt.

4B PROPHECY

Everyone was doing it. We had just bidden good-bye to Celia Cohen, who, with her secretary, Ethel Hunt, was sailing to Europe to join Isabelle Kinsella, Nellie Allnut, and Elsie Schwartz. The Chicago Times, edited by Evelyn Schlesinger and published by Joseph McLoughlin, contained an article written by Milton Stein, which stated that Boleslaw Kuszewski and Leonard Ladof were on their way to Asia to superintend the building of a railroad, owned by Al Neuhaus and Jack Parish, and that Al Jacobs and Geraldine Rocklin were sailing on the S. S. Aquitania, captained by Marvin Glick, to swim the English Channel. A South American post card from Helen Dilich, who was in the employ of Rosenberg and Lazar, oil exporters, stated that a new bridge, designed by Samuel Karlinsky, was being built by Mommsen and Curtis, engineers, across the Amazon.

And so, entering the dress shop owned by Aileen Carlson and Viola Lundh, we met Marjorie Mitchell, authoress, and Erma Lebbin, buyer, just returned from the salon of Ruby Schultz, in Paris. She helped us select a wardrobe designed by Nessie Cooper and Lorraine Albert. Then, filing our last wills and testaments in the law firm of Stobowitz and Kaplan, where we met Welcome Johnson and Madeline Krieger, secretary and bookkeeper, we were ready to go.

The mayor, Harold Tucker, greeted us in his offices at the new City Hall, designed by Eric Johnson, and built by Elster and Dobro, and gave us letters of introduction. Here we saw, too, Evelyn Goldstein, Theresa Vojta, Violet Barto, and Leona Shroff, secretaries to Abe Kurgans, Harriet Trachtenberg, Morton Gewolb, and Ben Rubin, prominent aldermen, and Edna Westerberg, Collector of internal revenue. We passed the office of Donald Ellis, health commissioner, where we saw Doris Meyers, dental hygienist, and Jean de Berg, a well-known surgeon, with their secretaries, Adele Welsch, Avis Johnson, and Myra Douglas, conversing with Harold Levy, another physician, and Morris Gusinow, his artist friend.

We bade good-bye to Celia Johnson, Anna Fine, and Dorothy Penning at the new La Salle depot, designed and built by Filmore Levy. There we saw Lillian Elderkin, Nettie Geller, and Hattie Clifford, who were going to tour Canada. On the train we found Bernard Gibson and Felix Karall, who were going to New York to design a new theater for Charles Gamen, and who told us that many works of art by Dorothy Gabel and Leo Newman, now in Italy, were to be exhibited there.

We stopped off at Cleveland, where we looked up Leo Widtman and William Cooper, partners in a brokerage firm. We dined together at Dorothy Chindbloom's tea room, discussing many old friends. Lester Goldstein and Howard Olson, William said, had been successful in business, and Jean Blumberg, Bessie Gordon, and Ruth Sundin were working for them as secretaries. Lawrence Singer, criminal lawyer, was to defend a case in court that day before Judge Martin Witkin. John Meahl was prosecuting-attorney for the state, and Gladys Schillen, court-reporter. Lorraine Vetterli, Bernice Sekyra, and Linnea Samuelson were court secretaries.

Missing our train, we boarded a passenger plane of the Albert Carlson Airlines for New York. On the plane were Wilmar Silverberg and Robert Sperling, bankers, with their confidential secretaries, Lucille Orlove and Zelda Miller. They were going to a business men's conference, where they expected to meet Joseph Grundwag, Richard Bill, and Morris Sherman. The plane was piloted by Phillip Zaronchik and Elizabeth Liska, with Hyman Friedman as mechanic.

In New York we went to the famous Stuts Theater. In the picture, produced by Sid Goltz, we recognized Fannie Paul and Ida Bush. Joseph Kwiat was conducting the vaudeville act, with Sadelle Prosterman as leading lady.

The stage sets, we heard, were designed by Bert Reisappel, Sol Goldenstein was conducting the orchestra. On coming out of the theater we met Leah Weisz, who told us that Irene Shmigelsky and Beatrice Reiffel had been cited at Columbia College for their work in science. Ruth Leach, she said, was a botany teacher there and Sylvia Schultz and Ruth Wineberg had charge of dramatics.

When we walked down Broadway, we saw a great electric sign advertising Asher's 1940 Revue, with Martha Anderson as premiere danseuse. The costumes were by Lindstaedt, and the unique stage sets by Joseph Friedman and Jack Shaykin. In the famous Engh book store we looked over the latest novels of Marcella Paradise and Edith Kiefe, illustrated by Kate Nudelman and Charles Reichel, and bought an original etching by Margaret McLean. As a last salute to luxury we stepped into Mattie Hunsinger's beauty parlor and had our hair cut by Alice Adams.

When we started for Pittsburgh, we were given a lift by Charlotte Eichstadt, on her way to the Smoky City. There, she told us, Selma Novitsky was head of a settlement house, with Oscar Becker as house doctor, and Antoinette Corso and Frances Williams as chief nurses. On the way, we passed J. Allen Gerber tramping to Florida.

In Pittsburgh we attended a musicale given by Anna Sikra, soprano, and Sadie Handelsman, accompanist. There we met Ella Krowitz and Robert Jaeger, also interested in music. We stayed that evening and heard Mildred Bush's symphony orchestra play a composition by Ben Bromberg. Nat Horowitz was the pianist, and Minnie Weinstein played first violin.

Immediately after the concert we left for Louisville, Kentucky, in a second-hand Ford. At a tourist camp we met Al Orloff and Melvin Peterson, also traveling, from whom we learned that Al Leineweber with his mechanic, Harold Johnson, was going to attempt a non-stop flight to China, in a plane designed by Robert Hume. Norman Sewell and Walter Pyzansky were financing the trip, and Al showed us an article about it, written by Ben Ruben.

We stopped for lunch at Estelle Berg's Wayside Inn, and there tasted Fritzche's Famous Pies. On leaving, we entered a traveling library driven by Eva Brostoff, with Edna Johnson as her assistant librarian, where we saw Sarah Barr's latest novel.

Coming around an "S" curve, we collided with another dilapidated Ford. Our harsh words, however, changed to greetings as we recognized Walter Kunst and William Kelly, on their way to meet Henry Greenbaum and Earl Gustafson, with whom they were going to spend the summer.

We arrived in Louisville and went to Terry Bannon's garage, where Evelyn Cooper, mechanic, fixed our fender. Later, we saw Lawrence Reif, who had just time to say "Hello," before he dashed off in pursuit of a diminutive hound who had no license. We met Violet Holm and Olga Facuna, a teacher, on their way to Mammoth Cave, where they were to meet Ruth Wisieberg. Going to St. Louis we followed the new electric railroad being built by John Riley and Charles Druck, with Jerome Kaplan as superintendent.

Entering St. Louis without further adventure, we attended the world's championship game between the St. Louis Browns and the Cardinals. Sidney White threw the ball that started the game. Pitching for the Browns was Henry Chylek, and Casimer Brahm was first baseman for the Cardinals. Irving Brostoff was catcher. In the grandstand we saw Sol Ehrensaft, manager, and Sidney Shapiro, pitcher, of the Cubs. The game was being covered by Alex Garber, sport editor of a Chicago Daily, and his assistant, Irving Gorindar. William Zuckerman was broadcasting it over station X.Y.Z., owned by David Pierson and operated by Ray Schuman.

Then we drove to Little Rock, where Walter Pelaske and Albert Tucker were in charge of the building of a bridge across the Arkansas River. Here we met Lucille Gage, Gertrude Cohn, Lillian Beauileu, and Gladys Wickham, all Chicago high school teachers vacationing in the South. They had met Ruth Bacon and Violet Erickson, teaching English and Latin in a Memphis high school, whose principal was Herman Odell. They told us that Muriel Rubin was head of a school for the blind, in which Dorothy Teuber taught mathematics.

In Texas we stopped at the ranch of Henry Wallstorm, where we met Eileen Behrends getting material for a western novel, and Ben Liss and Rosalie Weise doing real cowboys in oil. Henry was expecting Dave Korman and John Page, lawyers, coming West for their vacation.

Our next stop was at Waco, Texas, where we met many old friends, among them Major Hubbell and Captain Cahn of the 76th Aero Squadron. They told us that Earle Thompson was to be commander of the Sixth Corps Area. A plane was laying a new kind of smoke screen, invented by Gerald Watson. While there, we looked over the plans for the new airdrome, drawn by Paul Butcher and Earl Burgess, and inspected the beacons being installed by Arthur Anderson and Jack Morrison, electrical engineers. A radio station was going up under the supervision of Glen Frey and Peery Duderstadt, to be operated by Arthur Hecker and Robert Friedman.

At a private hangar nearby, owned by Selma Cohen and Celia Gartman, who conducted a girls' school of aeronautics, we met Gertrude West, Ellen Weaver, and Marjorie Maier, instructors. We heard that Phyllis Rack was barnstorming across the country with Lillian Goldberg, doing acrobatics.

We went to Pike's Peak in a plane, piloted by Henry Cristol and Gladys Schneider. Later, we climbed the peak with Dorothy Goldman and Rose Reskin, who were touring the West. Here also, we met Sam Statland and Irving Hecktman, C. P. A.'s, on their way to Kansas City.

We went to Denver next, where we visited the university. Mary Gratzner, dean of girls, introduced us to Professor Gorodasky of our class. The professor was writing a text book, assisted by Grace Bossy, also teaching there, and Rosalind Simon, his secretary. We saw Alice Schupp instructing a botany class, and in the library found Helen Schneider and Adelyne Jacobson in charge. On the campus Lester Hall and William Zagorin were trying out aspirants for the football team, Bernard Lipschulz, head of the Big Ten Conference looking on. That evening, we heard, the Dramatic Club was giving a play coached by Helen Beninghoff, sponsor, and Goldie Goldwasser assisting. As a special feature, Florence Flintenfeld and Nancy Knochemus were to sing, accompanied by Ellen Kamm.

Hearing a newsboy shout, "Extra!" we bought a paper and read that Jack Goldberg, managed by Frank Friedman, had won the heavy weight championship. An exclusive fight-article written by John McHugh, stated that among the notables present were Jeanette Crocker, senator, Myra Douglas, editor, Ed Holm, Wall Street broker, and Herbie Harris, fight promoter. A cartoon of Jack by Edward Stein caught our eyes. Looking farther on the sports page, we read that Gustave Albrecht had set a new record in the 100 yard dash. Vivien Shulke and Beatrice Beller were in an international tennis tournament at Wimbledon. Martin Hawsman was attendant physician.

At the Grand Canyon, where we next went, the first people we met were Helen Dahl and Ruth Lundgren, lawyers and Edith Olesen and Florence Ladwig, secretaries to the firm of Norman Bronstein and Barret Leavitt, publishers. They told us that Estelle Brody and Sophie Rapaport were teaching shorthand and household arts at a school endowed by Seymour Cohen and Harold Baum.

We then drove to Mt. Whitney, California, where we planned to stay two weeks at Helen Ausenbaum's log-cabin resort in the mountains. Her lodge, a new type of summer resort, had been designed by Glenn Johnson and Hannah Porwancher. Here we found the national girls' basketball team, coached by Minnie Garbell and captained by Ruth Koppenhoefer, with Solly Ditkowsky as manager. Dorothy Berndt, Bertha Levy, and Bernice Olsen, athletic directors at the Y. W. C. A., were also vacationing there. They told us that Xenia Brown and Viola Carlson were managing the "Y" household arts department.

In the evening two of the guests, Theda Schnell, pianist, and Bessie Schwartz, dancer, entertained us. When we spoke to Helen of the unusual lighting system at her lodge, she told us that it had been installed by William Altschaeffel and Henry Grossberg. Speaking with Blanche Mottl and Sallie Snyder, commercial artists in the firm of George Cohen, and Charles Greenberg, and their secretaries, Gladys Brown and Adeline Minarik, we learned that they were to illustrate a series of advertisements for Leo Sternfeld and Robert Lipschultz, dental surgeons. As we left, in came Edna Denison, seeking rare birds in the Rockies.

We finally struck out for San Francisco. On entering the city, we stopped at Violet Barto's new hospital, where we saw Margaret Vander Voort, Evelyn Swanberg, and Eleanor Engelcke, nurses, with Helen Huebschman as chief nurse. Albert Liederman and William Kleitsch, assistant doctors, told us of a pharmacists' convention which had been held recently, where they had seen Sam Goodman, Alex Coleite, Walter Casarella, Isadore Brickman, and Sol Feingold, chairman. Lillian Jaffe had taken down the minutes. As we left, we spoke to Lorraine Bernberg, office secretary, who told us that she had just heard from Sylvia Valbracht and Lillian Peterson, stenographers in a movie corporation owned by Gilbert Christensen and Myron Heyman.

While in San Francisco, we attended a dinner given by Abner Mesirow on his private yacht, in honor of Irving Gault, admiral of the U. S. Navy. Among the guests were some of our school friends, Doctor Gusinow, Minnie Satin and Max Kornfeld, lawyers, and Ethel Kane, widely-known concert pianist. Harold Gross, co-editor with Charles Booth of one of the most popular humor magazines of the day, was there also. From Anna Tomasik, secretary to the host, we heard that Sarah Schwartz, Ruth Ressenman, Minnie Robinson, and Lillian Fenstrom had formed a firm of public stenographers. Gertrude Ballard, she told us, had charge of an employment agency for commercial people, with Bernice Erickson as head of the stenographic department, and Violet Sandeen of the Bookkeeping. Here, also, we met Elmer Clemens, and Jack Shaykin, prominent business men, who told us that Bernard Fine and Raymond Genrke had been successful on Wall Street and that Earl Mora and Julius Levins were in business together.

Leaving San Francisco, we went by boat to Seattle, Washington, where we visited Irene White and Grace Levine, kindergarten teachers. Lillian Duskin, teacher of domestic science. From there we went to Yellowstone Park, where we met Morris Freeman acting as a guide on his vacation, and Morton Gewolb and Leo Gordon, forest rangers. We also met Harry Pomeranz and Robert Friedman, C. P. A.'s, who were going to Salt Lake City to set up a new accounting system for Louis Wilner,

Wearily we boarded the train which was to take us home. But our weariness was soon dispelled, for we sat down beside Bertha Lipkaman and Louis Sundvahl, stenographers in the firm of Eunice Full, criminal lawyer, who had been traveling with Helen Wilberling in the northwest. We arrived in Chicago on October 28, 1940, exactly six months from the day we started.

TO MAYFAIR

When first we came into this school,
We sensed a Something big and true!
The friendliness of everyone
Inspired us all to hope and do.
When first the school song rent the air,
That song of loyalty and of trust,
We felt a thrill of pride,
And the Something said, "You must!"

As time fled past on bright, swift wings,
As friends and lasting friendships grew,
The Something said, "That's fine, go on!
You're doing what you ought to do!"
And as the fineness thrived and grew,
As the Something said, "Go on," each day,
The time—two years—has come and gone,
And then the last—the parting day.

We cannot speak the things we feel,
The grateful words we want to say;
So we'll just shout with ecstasy,
Upon our graduation day,
"May many others come and go,
And may the others also say,
'To Mayfair and to the Something
We met on that first day'!"

—Ruth Petersen.

CLASS HISTORY

We finished the first happy chapter of our Book of Education, Grammar School. The chapter had proved so interesting and inspiring that we were reluctant to leave it. However, "Forward" was the password, so on we passed to Mayfair High and Chapter Two.

The first chapter had taught us some important virtues, but we were still young and inexperienced. As we crowded into the assembly hall at Mayfair, we realized how much there was yet for us to learn. But as Mr. Prinsen spoke friendly words of encouragement and welcome to us, we felt a new thrill, a new spirit. More words of encouragement from our division teachers made us feel that it wasn't going to be so bad after all. Then came the Freshie Dance. It was at this dance we learned that our "superiors" were good sports, every one of them.

The Girls' Athletic Association, the Mayfair Welfare Club, and the Star Club, held interests for all of us. The G. A. A. promoted our athletic welfare and most of us set to work with a will to earn our numerals and, perhaps, a letter. The Mayfair Club erved to stir the glowing embers of our school spirit to a bright flame. The Star Club encouraged hard work and scholarship.

We look up from our Book of Education for a moment, to try to realize that another phase of school life had passed. With a sigh of regret, we turned the page and our eyes fell on the words, Chapter Three, Sophomore.

Came the spring! Some of us suffered severe cases of spring fever, but as usual, we lived through it. And then again came the exams to mar the chapter, to darken our poetic soul so deeply buried in the spring.

The last day of school! We were tired, we had worked hard and we wanted a vacation, and yet—how we did hate to leave our school and our friends, even for a rest.

Fully rested, at the end of our vacation, and eager for more of this Book of Education, we opened it—Chapter Four, 2B. How good it was to get back to soccer, and basketball held our attention. We had occasional games with other teams. The inter-room captain ball tournament claimed our interest too. The Commercial Club held new ties. How quickly the days passed, how near we were drawing to our goal. With the graduation of the seniors, another chapter ended.

Not stopping, we delved into the next chapter — Chapter Five, Two-Year Graduates! Men in their way and day have been proud, but not as proud as we. Think of it! Two-Year Graduates! Now the days simply flew past on shining wings. Others bowed before us, privileges were extended. Oh, it was a glorious life.

We heard we were the largest graduating class that Mayfair had ever had. The remarkable size of the class was much spoken of. Of course, we decided that the largest class must offer the largest graduation gift to the school. But, we can't go any further than that at present.

And then came the realization that the chapter was ending. The last days were sad days, thoughtful days. Books we had sometimes handled roughly received friendly pats as we put them down for the last time. Our banquet was a wonderful success. We were happy—and yet—sad.

We sum up the past few chapters of our Book of Education. We have learned that honesty, truth, loyalty, friendship, and sportsmanship, are the most essential things in life. We shall never forget that it was at Mayfair we learned this. We close our Book of Education for the time being, hoping that next fall we shall open the book again as 3B's at Mayfair.

The Civics Club is the school's oldest and largest organization. It is the power that supports and sponsors every activity or project undertaken by any other organization, or the school as a whole. It is the foremost social organization of Roosevelt, and its membership embraces a large percentage of the students. It arranges and conducts almost all of the assemblies, and gives most of the dances and other forms of entertainment.

The Executive Board of the Civics Club meets every other Tuesday and takes care of the business of the club. This board consists of the officers of the club and the chairman of the various committees.

The Student Council, Roosevelt's student representative body, was organized about five and one-half years ago. Its main purpose is to get in direct contact with, and bring together the students, so that they may, as a body, discuss and solve the problems confronting them.

There are now about one hundred and twenty-five members, one from each division room and one from the various clubs.

Most of the work is accomplished through committees, the chairman, and the officers of which compose the Executive Board.

THE HALL GUARD SYSTEM

The hall guard system is one of the most important organizations at Roosevelt. The system was initiated at Hibbard about seven years ago, and was instituted at that time by Mr. E. H. Schulz, who has been the Faculty Adviser of it throughout its existence.

The hall guard has an important duty during fire drills. He is the important factor in the maintenance of general order and quiet throughout the entire school day. The officials of the system act as guards on duty at all school assemblies. The hall guard system is effective because of the business-like way that it is regulated. The entire responsibility does not rest on the shoulders of one person. It is evenly divided among the officials.

A chief and junior fire marshall is the head executive, and works in co-ordination with two assistant chiefs, one a boy and the other a girl. Henry Damm holds the position of chief and junior fire marshall. Pearl Amsel is the girl assistant, and Leon Cohen the boy assistant. Each period is supervised by a captain who has a lieutenant for each floor under him. The office of recording chief is held by Lois Sundvahl, who records the daily absences and demerits of hall guards and issues the grades at the close of the semester.

The organization of Student Secretaries is one of great importance and carries with it high honors and valuable experience for the girls occupying these positions.

With the careful and excellent supervision of Mr. E. H. Schulz, the secretaries perform the many duties of the Student Activity office. These comprise the business and financial affairs of the school, the Hall Guard System, Civics Club, Student Council, arrangement of assemblies, subscription campaigns for Weekly and Annual, and general clerical work, including shorthand and typing.

The head secretaries hold very responsible positions. They manage all business, and see that it is carried out promptly and efficiently. They are aided in this work by the assistant secretaries.

THE OFFICE FORCE

The student assistance in the main office is an important factor in the daily functioning of the school. Much of the work done in the office is dependent upon this group, whose aid has proved to be a great help to Mr. Gaffney, Mr. Clarke, the administrative assistants, and four office clerks.

Though this group does not act as a club, it is under the organization and supervision of Mrs. Crehore.

Each office clerk has several students responsible to her in her special work. There are those who assist Miss Schwartz, registrar, with credits, and those who assist Miss Bermingham in the book-room and stock room. Miss Flander's work deals largely with the teachers' payroll, time sheets, and mail. The student who assists her does secretarial work. Miss Ridge's time is spent in dealing with general work, that often varies. The pupils aiding her have no special assigned duties, but a great variety. Among the various duties performed daily by the student help are the typing and mimeographing of stencils for bulletins, delivering school supplies, filing, and general secretarial work.

In addition to an office training credit, this work may take the place of gymnasium. All of these boys and girls are honor roll students.

ROOSEVELT WEEKLY

A desire to create something, permanent and helpful, is the fundamental reason for students wanting to become members of the Weekly Staff. It is to this creative, this constructive influence, that the Roosevelt Weekly owes its existence.

An attempt has been made on the part of the members of the staff to produce a standard publication, and according to indications, success has been attained. In 1928 the Weekly entered the National Scholastic Contest for high school papers. As a result, the Roosevelt newspaper was awarded a second class rating. The following semester the Weekly competed in the State Publications Contest and received one of the first prizes, the Distinguished Rating for General Merit.

During the past term Alex Garber has been editor-in-chief and Sylvia Katz associate. The reporters, headed by George Hill, were Celia Cohn, Rosemary Carroll, Lillian Thomsen, Milton Shapinsky, Vincent Hoof, Esther Werth, Edith Kiefe, and Jeanette Crocker. The sports page was in charge of Allan Marver and his assistants, Helen Ausenbaum, Jack Chizewer, Sam Ross, and Louis Skolnick. Those in charge of the special columns were Bertha Kaplan, Evelyn Schlesinger, Barrett Leavitt, Hazel Weir, Ruth Belaffsky, Mary Gratzner, and Grace Gibbony. Gertrude Rosenstein and Helen Briskin were the headline writers.

It is to all these students and to Miss Margaret Mosher, editorial adviser, and Mr. E. H. Schulz, business adviser, that all the credit for the success of the past semester belongs.

Vice President	BERNARD GIBSON
Secretary	JACK CHIZEWER
Treasurer	ROBERT JAEGER
Sergeant at Arms	HAROLD NIELSEN
Adviser	HIBBARD WHITTLESEY

Motto: Clean Sports, Clean Speech, Clean Scholarship, and Clean Living.

Platform: To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community higher standards of Christian character.

The Roosevelt Senior Hi-Y club ranks very high in the city as a Hi-Y club, as far as records and fellowship are concerned. The club won the Royal Red Rag last year at the Annual City Hi-Y Jamboree, making one of the best showings.

The aim of the organization is to stimulate the four C's, and in accordance with this a 4C campaign is held every February semester. Mr. Gaffney and Mr. Clarke are honorary members.

President	GEORGE HANSON
Vice-President	NED PORTE
Secretary	WILLIAM BEIDENWEIG
Treasurer	ELDON BAKER
Sponsor	VERNON G. SCHAEFER

MOTTO: Clean Speech, Clean Sports, Clean Scholarship, and Clean Living.

PURPOSE: To create, maintain, and establish throughout the School and Community high standards of Christian character.

The Junior Hi-Y is fostered by its "big brother," the Senior Hi-Y Club. Although both clubs work in unison as to purpose, the meetings are practically independent of one another.

An initiation was held to enable the prospective members to participate in the summer activities.

The meetings are held at the Irving Park Y. M. C. A. By co-operating with the Schurz Hi-Y Clubs, it is possible to make use of the advantages which the "Y" offers.

The main idea of this group of boys is to help one another overcome their weaknesses and strengthen themselves, both mentally and physically.

This club is organized to aid in SCHOLARSHIP, SPORTSMANSHIP, COURTESY, and GENERAL WELFARE of every boy in Roosevelt High School. The work is, as the name indicates, a council working with the dean to remedy anything that does not represent true Roosevelt spirit. Boys of the highest attainment in school ideals are recommended by 3B divisions. This membership is continuous for three semesters. As the club is new, the work has not been voluminous, although there is much to be done.

R. O. T. C.

In February 1927 a unit of the Chicago High Schools' R. O. T. C. was formed at Roosevelt. Within three months two-hundred and fifty cadets had enrolled, cadet officers had been commissioned, and three companies and a band had been organized. At present, the organization consists of three-hundred and ten cadets and forty cadet officers, totaling three-hundred and fifty in all.

At the end of the second semester, the Roosevelt R. O. T. C., which had been organized as a battalion, was made a regiment, with Cadet Morris H. Sachs as Lieutenant Colonel and Cadet Neilson as Cadet Major. Earle Thompsen is the present Cadet Lieutenant Colonel, and Sol Porte and Robert Mathies are Cadet Majors.

The Corps has rendered valuable services to the community, helping the fire department on three different occasions. It also participated in the dedication of Kiwanis Park and in the Armistice Day Parade at Lincoln Park. As part of its work at Roosevelt the Corps has a permanent usher force consisting of cadets only.

The faculty adviser of the corps is Captain J. Q. Rood, U. S. A., retired.

The Girl Reserves endeavors to help a girl grow through normal, natural activities into those habits, insights and ideals which will make her a responsible, eager woman, capable and ready to develop and share in those group expressions which are making effective the purpose of God in the world.

The purpose of this club is to unite its members in a spirit of friendliness and service; to stand for the best things at home, in school and in the community.

Roosevelt's Girl Reserves is affiliated with the Girl Reserve Departments of the Y. W. C. A.

PRINT SHOP

The Roosevelt Print Shop is located in room 132. It is one of the most active places in the entire school, because it is here that all the printing work in Roosevelt, except the Weekly and Annual, is done. From the first period to the last, busy boys are seen running the presses or working on type.

This fascinating work draws to it a large number of boys every semester. Under Mr. Hibbard E. Whittlesey's instruction, every minute of the day is enjoyed by them.

The print shop students, banded together in classes, work as a well organized club, with the purpose of aiding Roosevelt, as well as for the knowledge and credit. Among the articles printed by the boys are corridor passes, programs, and school songs and cheers.

THE HARLEQUINS

President.....	NELLIE ALLNUTT
Vice President.....	CARL FOREMAN
Secretary.....	HELEN PHILLIPS
Treasurer.....	RUTH WEINBERG

Through the departure of Mrs. May Smith, some students feared a loss in interest as regards the drama. On the contrary, Mrs. Josephine Duns Conto has recreated the group. Now all in the club are striving for individuality by helping themselves to a better understanding of the development and technique in the drama.

Muriel Browne, director of the children's plays at the Goodman theatre, was kind enough to loan the sponsor of dramatics at Roosevelt a copy of "Robin Hood." From this, other copies had been made and wonderful work done on the story of Sherwood Forest. "Six Pass While the Lentils Boil" was also worked upon. It served to give the members an idea of another type of drama.

The senior play, "The Ghost Bird," was given while Mrs. Smith was still at Roosevelt.

PENASPIR

Sponsor.....ETTA GERALDINE CLARK
President.....SYLVIA V. KATZ
Secretary.....EDNA DENISON

In every high school there are students of superior merit in English, whose desire for training in creative writing and literary appreciation cannot be fully satisfied in the ordinary class-room routine. For such students has been provided an English Club of two sections, Writers' and Readers'. The Writers' Section is known as Penaspir—Pen + Aspiration.

During its year of existence the members have devoted their time to the study and production of poems, short stories, essays, and one-act plays. There has been a very noticeable growth in power of writing.

The club has supplied material for the literary column of the Weekly and for the Weekly's literary supplement.

The Flag Ode of Sylvia Katz was awarded second place in the Union League Contest among students of Chicago and Cook County High Schools.

THE READERS' CLUB

President.....BERTHA KAPLAN
Secretary.....HILDENE ABRAMS
Adviser.....MRS. LYNNE S. HARFORD

This year the Readers' Club has followed a unique program. Leaving their former plan of reading American contemporary literature, the group formulated a program consisting only of foreign literatures. Different members of the group have been given the opportunity to lead the discussion on any literature that they have had special preparation. The novelty of these readings and the diverse impressions expressed gave an added zest to the discussions that are always interesting.

Generally, after a foreign literature had been approached from all angles and viewpoints, it was compared to the American. Since the adoption of this program, Oriental, German, French, and Russian literatures has been taken up by the members.

This group is small, but compact, and in everything it does an enthusiasm and perseverance is manifested. Mrs. Harford, who sponsors the work of the group, has stimulated it to probe for qualities and truths below the surface.

DEBATE CLUB

President	HENRY DAMM
Vice President	BERNARD COOPER
Secretary	ANNE GDALMAN
Sponsor	MISS LETTIE E. BRISTOL

The Roosevelt Debate Club has a twofold purpose: to make a comprehensive study of the fundamentals of oral expression, and to apply the knowledge so attained. Under the competent coaching of Miss Bristol, the club has accomplished this purpose. Much has been achieved, even though achievement has not always manifested itself in victory.

In debate, Roosevelt has fared fairly well. The first two debates of the season, dual contests with Lake View and Crane, were lost by our contestants. But valuable platform practice had been gained. In the most recent debate, a single contest with North Park College, our debaters were victorious. Another member of the club, Bernard Cooper, gained more honor for the school by winning the North Section contest and placing third in the city-wide oratorical contest conducted by the Union League Club.

The club has sponsored two assembly programs, a debate with the alumni and an oratory elimination contest. Its thirty members feel that they have profited inestimably through membership.

Secretary.....	ERWIN SCHAFFER
Treasurer.....	GERALD A. WATSON
Sponsor.....	MISS L. SPROWLS

“..... in order to promote greater interest in experimental chemistry.”

This organization, although in its first semester of existence, has accomplished more than was expected by its originators. It has stimulated a growing interest among those of the student body who are scientifically inclined. Authoritative personages have addressed the club on varied subjects of scientific research.

It is the greatest hope and desire of the original members that the coming generation of members will carry on the fine work of this organization.

“Co-operation shall be our watchword, performance our duty, and success our goal.”

ORCHESTRA

Concert-Meister	WILLIAM ROBERTS
President	WILLIAM ROBERTS
Vice-President	HARRY LASTICK
Secretary	HELEN JOHNSON
Treasurer	ROSE DUNN

One of Roosevelt's outstanding organizations is the orchestra. Upon Mr. H. R. Staater's appointment as head of the senior and junior high school choral department, Mr. D. Nyvall succeeded him as director of the orchestra. Mr. R. A. Seabury, is our present director.

The orchestra consists of fifty-five members, who practice daily during the seventh period in room 204. They also play at frequent assemblies and entertainments given at Roosevelt. A great deal of work was spent upon two contest numbers, "May Day Dance," by Hadley, and the "Andante" from the "Fifth Symphony," by Tschaiikowsky.

CHORAL CLUB

President.....LEO BERG
 Vice President.....LESTER GOLDSTEIN
 Secretary-Treasurer.....HERMAN SEIDEL

The Choral Club, under the direction of Mr. David Nyvall Jr., boasts of one hundred twenty-five members who have proved a valuable asset to the school and the city. Through the untiring efforts of Mr. Nyvall, this organization has progressed rapidly and is now coming to the front as the leading choral organization in the city. In June the Club will present the "Mikado," the most famous of Gilbert and Sullivan operas.

Last January the Choral Club entered the city annual high school choral club contest, held at Orchestra Hall. Roosevelt took second place.

Mr. Nyvall is planning to make the Roosevelt Choral Club the greatest a'capella chorus in the State.

TENNIS CLUB

President	GLENN JOHNSON
Vice-President	IRVING SOHVIN
Secretary	NORMAN BRONSTEIN
Treasurer	LEO GOLDSTEIN

Tennis! At the word, immediately through the mind of each person flashes the name of one of the speediest and cleanest sports.

The Tennis Club of the Roosevelt High School is one, indeed, worthy of recognition. Under the leadership of Mr. Lyman B. Mansell, it has placed second in the North Section for two successive years.

The Tennis Team for the 1929 season will be chosen by a schedule of tournaments, to be arranged by Mr. Mansell. Although most of last season's players have graduated, the new material looks good. The team is bound to come through successfully.

ARCHITECTURAL AND ENGINEERING CLUB

President.....JEROME CURTIS
Vice-President.....JOSEPH LENTES
Secretary and Treasurer.....MARIE KALK

The Architectural and Engineering Club is one of the newly organized clubs in the school, having been started only this semester.

The club aims to promote interest in architecture and engineering. It has done so by submitting plans for the World's Fair Buildings, and for the contest which took place in all the high schools in Chicago. It also intends to exchange drawings with the different countries in the world.

AERO CLUB

Faculty Adviser	MR. PAUL LAHANN
President	HERMAN GORDON
Vice-President	STANLEY NELSON
Secretary-Treasurer	WILLIAM MEITER

The Model Aero Club aims to promote a better understanding of this fascinating new industry and sport-aviation.

This club, under the direction of Mr. Paul Lahann, has a membership of over fifty enthusiasts and has made wonderful progress in its year of operation. In 1928 the Roosevelt Model Aero Club won third place in the city-wide Tribune Contest, placing ahead of any high school in the tournament.

This year's activities included individual meets with other high school clubs, visits to airports and airplane factories, and also participation in airplane contests and tournaments that were held in the city.

THE STAR CLUB

President.....RUTH PETERSEN
 Vice-President.....LUCY CAMPIONI
 Secretary.....CHARLOTTE DANKOWSKI
 Treasurer.....ALICE FREDERICKSON

The Star Club consists of students having an average of eighty-nine and one-half percent or better, in the previous quarter's work.

The club, which is sponsored by Miss Gruener, was organized by Mr. Prinsen in January, 1927, and since then has rapidly increased in membership. It has participated actively in all social affairs during the past year. It also provided a very successful assembly consisting of a play, a sketch, some readings, and dances.

The purpose of the organization is to encourage high scholarship, and also to reward it. A small silver star is the emblem of membership.

The club colors are blue and white.

THE COMMERCIAL CLUB

President.....	RAE BERGER
Vice-President.....	MYRTLE PARQUETTE
Treasurer.....	LESLIE MOLAY
Secretary.....	RUTH PETERSEN

The Commercial Club is Mayfair's largest organization. It is very important because of its purpose and the work it does. This includes three main phases: all affairs related to graduations; securing of positions for graduates and acting as vocational adviser for graduates; all matters pertaining to Alumnæ.

The club also provides occasional recreation in form of dances, etc. Miss Paulson is sponsor.

THE G. T. CLUB

President.....	MILDRED WEINSTEIN
Secretary.....	MILDRED PRUST
Treasurer.....	CHARLOTTE GRIEBENOW
Sponsor.....	MISS WATERS

The G. T. Club, the newest at Mayfair, is made up of the 3B students, whose chief concern is the welfare of the school. The club is especially interested in the Weekly and has written up many of Mayfair's contributions during the past semester.

The members and their sponsor, Miss Waters, have also enjoyed several good times together after school hours.

Regular meetings are held the first and third Wednesdays of every month.

LIGHTWEIGHT BASKETBALL

Roosevelt's lightweight basket-ball team fought valiantly throughout the entire season with a clean slate for a remarkable total of twenty-two straight victories, but was defeated by Englewood in the decisive championship game by a score of 16-14.

Marshall, Harrison, Crane, Waukegan, Medill, De La Salle, Philips, Schurz, Senn, Lake View, and Lane bowed to the superiority of the Roosevelt aggression in the practice and sectional games. In the semi-finals Schurz, Marshall, and Crane raised the number of Roosevelt's victories.

Sixteen letters were awarded to the lights. Those who received the major awards are: Captain Orloff, Shaps, Brothman, Levenfeld, Arias, Holm, Zitlin, Muller, Silverman and Manager Goldstein.

Ditkowski, Brownstein, Asher, Karrsick, Steelman, and Heyman received minor chenille R's.

The lights, coached by Mr. Russell Chappel, have maintained the record of never having been defeated on the home floor during the two years that the Roosevelt gym has been open. Another thing to be proud of is the fact that "Ossie" Brothman and "Bibsy" Arias have achieved the honor of being on the "All-City" basket-ball team.

Top Row—Coach R. B. Chappel, W. Sector, G. Lapid, S. Parker, B. Krauss, I. Barnofsky, Manager L. Goldstein.
First Row—A. Markowitz, L. Cohen, Captain H. Harris, L. Bergman, A. Bairstow, J. Gutterman.

HEAVYWEIGHT BASKETBALL

The Roosevelt heavyweight basket-ball team, led by Captain Harris, struggled nobly to reach the semi-finals, but in vain. The nucleus of eight veterans gave a promising outlook. As it was, Lane defeated them in a thrilling battle, by a score of 22-19, in the final game of the season. They had lost three sectional games, but the victory of this game would have given the heavies a chance, as there would have been a triple tie for first place in the north section between Lane, Schurz, and Roosevelt.

Minor chenille letters were awarded to the entire squad, composed of: forwards, Captain Harris, Bergman, Barnofsky, Parker, and Bergbom; center, Markowitz; guards, Bairstow, L. Cohen and Gutterman.

Coach Chappel and the supporters of this campaign were jointly helpful in the advancement toward the goal. With a similar backing, much can be expected in the great contest next year.

Top Row—G. Hunt, I. Briskin, M. Forman, S. Gitelis, F. Drucker, F. Rees, N. Rosenfield, R. Harrison, S. Porte, S. Friedman, C. Gerstner, M. Auerbach.
 Second Row—I. Holland, L. Skolnick, I. Vertel, E. Miller, L. Arnold, I. Hecktman, A. Berkson, S. Statland, J. Mauer, and Coach C. W. Hillman.
 First Row—H. Levy, A. Marcy, Captain M. Kaplan, Captain W. Franklin, J. Schulman, T. Mizjalks, H. Fishman, Manager N. Horowitz.

TRACK TEAM

Considering the inadequate facilities for the training of track candidates, the indoor season was fairly successful. Inter-school meets were contested with Austin, Harrison, and Lake View. In these the juniors made a much better showing than the seniors. The juniors took second place in a triangular meet with Lindblom, Englewood, and University High School, at the University of Chicago.

In the city meet, Roosevelt was tied for third place. Morrie Kaplan placed first in the three standing broad jumps Eli Miller placed fourth in the high jump. Briskin, Franklin, Levy, Drucker, Rosenfield, Hecktman, and Gitless earned their minor R's by gaining points in the inter-school meets.

Mr. Cecil Hillman, the coach, expects a better showing with the inauguration of the outdoor season.

SWIMMING TEAMS

Success was the result of the Roosevelt Swimming Teams' efforts for the season of '28 and 29. Mr. Ralph Marx, the coach, can boast of a splendid record for his teams, the juniors having won all of their inter-school meets by at least twenty points, and the seniors, about half of theirs.

The Roosevelt natators competed against Senn, Schurz, Harrison, Lane, Austin, Tilden, and Loyola in inter-school meets. The juniors took second place in the novice and the city meets. In an open meet sponsored by the Lake Shore Athletic Club, the juniors won two shields, and broke the records. These trophies were awarded because of winning the 250 yard medley and the 300 yard free style relays.

Major letters were awarded to Captain Rubin, Jacob, Malkin, Halsten, Warvel, Erlenbaugh, Abrams, Ruderman, Ladoff, Seligman, Lazar, Lockerbie, J. Krohn, I. Krohn, and Ginsberg of the Juniors, and to Captain Rosen of the Seniors, who has brought many nautical honors to Roosevelt. He holds many city, county, and national backstroke records.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

President	MARGARET KLANN
Vice-President	FRIEDA ACKERMAN
Secretary-Treasurer	LUCILLE VEECK
Assistant Secretary-Treasurer	JANE DAVIS
Delegate to Council	HELEN WILLIAMS
Assistant Delegate to Council	ANNA KARELL
Adviser	MISS INEZ HOLLENBERGER

With over a thousand members, the Girls' Athletic Association ranks as one of the most prominent clubs of Roosevelt. Every girl who is athletically inclined or who feels the need to indulge in sports, may be claimed as a member.

The G. A. A., fosters the after-school and inter-room sports, and the swimming, tennis, and dancing classes. It also defrays the cost of the emblems awarded to the winners of the inter-room tournaments and the cost of the tapes awarded to those performing various swimming strokes with proficiency. During a semester, some form of entertainment, such as a circus, assembly or special program, is given and hikes are held for members.

One of the principal reasons for the girls' entering into these activities is to earn points. For one-thousand points earned in and out of school, a large school letter is awarded. Smaller letters are given for a lesser number of points.

GIRLS' SWIMMING

This group has been a credit to the G. A. A. It is an outgrowth of the Swimming Club which Miss Grace Hanley organized upon her arrival at Roosevelt.

The meet with Schurz High School last January was the first in which this team participated. During the past semester also, it has performed very ably in competitions with other schools.

The team has made great strides in a short time and Roosevelt is proud of these mermaids, who are now capable of entering any meet for girls.

The splashers who received rewards for their labors in the form of felt letters, depicting the figure of a girl diving through the letter "R," are: Bessie Gordon, Florence Goldman, Doris Lane, Bernice La Belle, June Lundh, Viola Lundh, Helen Williams, Marie Witkin, Juanita Falkinberg, Anna Wolf, Florence Johnson, Bernice Higgins, Ruth Schuman, Helen Ausenbaum, Virginia Herman, Jane Davis, Geraldine Rocklin, Clara Heiser, and Ethel Pritikin.

WATER PLAY

When the convention of the Midwest Physical Education Association was held in Chicago last April, Roosevelt was chosen as the scene of the various demonstrations, in which representatives from all over the city participated. The audience came from all parts of the country.

The girls pictured above are those who took part in a water play, entitled, "The Princess Who Could Not Swim." There were several successful presentations.

The cast was as follows:

Princesses	{ JENNIE MAKSIKUH HELEN FREDERICK ELLEN WEXLER

DANCING CLASSES

The services of these devotees of the Terpsichorean art are available, no matter if they are for an assembly, entertainment, or G. A. A. exhibition. For the most part, these are girls who have had no training prior to that which they received at Roosevelt, under the staff of gym teachers.

Under the careful coaching of Miss Grace Hanley, the Gypsy groups performed very ably at various assemblies, including the one sponsored by the G. A. A. This semester they were the graceful "children" who danced for the fairy princess in the swimming pageant which was given for the convention of the Midwest Physical Education Association.

Mrs. Louise Ege's group has concentrated on clog, tap, and soft shoe dancing. They also contributed to the teaching projects during the above mentioned convention.

These classes are under the auspices of the G. A. A.

VACATION CALL

Summer's first heralds are calling, a strange, irresistible call,
 And we, in the grim city waiting, must answer with bat and with ball,
 We follow the call of the wild through forest and city and plain,
 While dancing to Summer's sweet piping, till Winter enthralls us again,
 We swim in the cool, laughing waters, and shout with sheer joy at our fun,
 And sail to the time of the breezes, till gone is the gold of the sun,
 Then, flame leaping high at our campfire, we sing of fair days on the green,
 And tell to our pals in the shadows, our travels and places we've seen,
 Then, watching the embers fall lower, and the last wisps of silver smoke curl,

We lie back to sleep on our ponchos, and thank God for the life of a girl.

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION
OF
ROOSEVELT HIGH SCHOOL
GREETINGS

The Parent-Teacher Association, a state-wide and nation-wide organization, with local organization in each school, was launched to promote a greater interest of parents in the work our schools are trying so hard to accomplish for you.

The High School student of today is to be congratulated upon the wonderful improvement in equipment and buildings.

One is tempted to include the teaching force, but memory brings to mind the devoted profession laboring long and hard with meager facilities.

It is the aim of the Parent-Teacher Association to add its strength to all this, so that working together, taxpayer, city officials, teacher, and parent may give to you a fuller life and a greater opportunity for success.

May you repay this obligation in a better and higher citizenship and may you have success in your every endeavor to fulfill our faith in you.

GREETINGS—

It has been said that "one can describe the color of a rose but that to convey the pleasure which is imparted by its fragrance is beyond the possibility of pen and ink." As you go out into the world to assume and discharge the various responsibilities of maturity you will learn that by the same token, the most worthwhile things of life are often intangible things. Even in your contacts with banking institutions you may observe that the atmosphere of friendliness does not emanate from glistening marble counters, or mahogany desks, but that it finds its true expression in real honest-to-goodness service; furthermore that safety and protection for your funds lies not in massive buildings and impregnable vaults as much as in a policy of conservatism followed by the management in the loaning and investing of the money which you deposit.
